

THE PERISCOPE

The CIA's Public Relations

Vice Adm. William F. Raborn, the new director of the Central Intelligence Agency, has shuttered the agency's "public affairs" (i.e., public relations) office. Reason: Raborn decided a super-secret agency like the CIA does not have any public affairs.